

Risk alert statement

This brief statement does not disclose all risks and other significant matters of trading foreign exchange contracts in detail. In view of the existence of such risks, the client shall only conduct transactions on the premise that the client understands the nature of the contract and the contractual relationship to be reached by the client and the degree of risks faced by the client. Dealing in foreign exchange contracts may not be suitable for some customers. The client should carefully consider whether the transaction is suitable for the client based on the client's experience, purpose, financial resources and other relevant circumstances.

Leverage effect. Foreign exchange contracts are highly risky. The amount of the initial margin is very low relative to the value of the foreign exchange contract, so it is a leveraged transaction. Relatively small market fluctuations may have a greater impact on the proportion of capital production that customers have deposited or need to deposit. This may move in a direction that is not good for or beneficial to customers. The client may lose the initial margin funds and any other funds deposited with the company to maintain the client's position. Qualification

Order and strategy to reduce risk. Placing conditional orders such as "stop loss" or "limit price" orders, especially in very volatile market conditions, does not necessarily limit the customer's loss to the expected amount, as market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders. The use of combined positions such as "arbitrage" and "arbitrage" positions can be as dangerous as simply holding "long" or "short" positions.

Charge. Before the client starts the transaction, the client should have a clear understanding of all charges that the client may pay. These charges will affect the net profit (if any) of the customer or increase the loss of the customer.

Electronic transactions. Transactions through electronic trading systems are not only different from open call markets, but also different from other electronic trading systems. If the customer trades through the electronic trading system, the customer will face risks related to the electronic trading system, including any hardware and software failures.

As a result of any system failure, the customer's order may not be executed in accordance with the customer's instructions or not at all. Because Best Wing Limited cannot control signal power, its response or the path of the Internet, the configuration of customer equipment or the reliability of its connection, Best Wing

Limited cannot be responsible for communication failure, disorder or delay in online (through the Internet) transactions. In no event shall Best Wing

Limited be liable for speculative or anticipated damages for potential future loss of profits.

Limitation of liability. The customer accepts any trading system provided by Best Wing Limited in its "original condition", Best Wing Limited does not provide any express or implied warranties, including but not limited to the implied warranties of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose, purpose or application; the warranties of timeliness and non-interference; or any implied warranties arising from the use, trading process or performance of the transaction. In no event shall Best Wing Limited be liable for any punitive, indirect, incidental, special or consequential loss or damage, including loss of business, profit and goodwill. Best Wing Limited shall not be liable to customer for any delay or interruption in service or delivery or for the performance of Best Wing Limited or its related party systems for any reason

(including but not limited to hardware or software failure; regulatory measures; acts of God; war, terrorism or our intentional acts). The Customer acknowledges that there may be delays or interruptions in the use of our system, including, for example, those intentionally caused by Best Wing Limited for the purpose of maintaining the system. Best Wing Limited does not guarantee that alternative transaction arrangements will be provided at a certain time, and Best Wing Limited will not be responsible for the delay in placing orders.

Bond. Best Wing Limited's margin policy requires that the client's account be maintained with appropriate margin at all times. Failure to meet margin requirements may result in closing any existing positions and loss. Best Wing Limited reserves the right to close all positions without notice if the margin of an account is lower than the minimum margin required by Best Wing Limited's margin increase policy.

Quotation error. In case of quotation error (including but not limited to the quotation input error of Best Wing Limited, which cannot represent the fair market price, and the wrong quotation of Best Wing Limited employees, including but not limited to the wrong large quotation or the wrong quotation due to the inaccuracy of hardware, software or communication lines or systems and / or external data sources provided by the third party supplier), Best Wing Limited will not make the account generated Responsibility for Balance errors. The situations listed above are not exhaustive. In case of quotation error, Best Wing Limited reserves the right to make necessary correction or adjustment to the account involved. Best Wing Limited reserves the right to transfer the missing interest out or into the account at any time if there is a system error and no interest is charged or paid as planned.

Third party authorization. In any case, Best Wing Limited will not be responsible for reviewing the selection of a third-party transaction Advisor (such as a fund manager) by the client, and will not make any suggestions on it, if the client grants the transaction authority or the right to control the client's account to a third-party transaction Advisor (such as a fund Manager). Best Wing Limited makes no representations or warranties to any trading advisor; Best Wing Limited is not responsible for any losses that may be suffered by the client as a result of the trading advisor's actions; and Best Wing Limited does not endorse or approve any trading advisor's operating methods by implication or otherwise. If the customer authorizes a fund manager to exercise any right over the customer's account, the customer shall bear the risk. The client should regularly check the activity in the client's account to ensure that the client's money manager's transactions on behalf of the client are approved by the client.

Risk disclosure in terms of bankruptcy protection. The client's transactions through Best Wing Limited are not conducted on the exchange. The client's funds may be protected differently from those used by margin with priority in bankruptcy or futures and options contracts guaranteed to be traded on exchanges. Given that funds used for over-the-counter foreign exchange trading and other online derivative contracts or trading products cannot get the same priority, such as Best Wing Limited insolvency, and customers claim for funds deposited in Best Wing Limited or profits earned through Best Wing Limited trading, customers' claims may not get priority. Without priority, the customer is the general creditor, and the claim of the customer will be compensated from the remaining amount after the payment of the priority claim, just like the claim of other general creditors. Even customer funds deposited by Best Wing Limited separately from the customer's own operating funds may not be immune from claims by other general creditors and creditors with priority.

Volatile market conditions. Transactions sometimes face volatile market conditions, such as the risk that the release of key information may expose customers to additional risks, including but not limited to the risk that customers may not be able to obtain the price they request. Best Wing Limited cannot guarantee the price for any customer in the volatile market.

Simulate the situation. Simulated conditions may be different from real conditions. Therefore, customers who trade in a simulated account should not assume that the same result is inevitable in a real transaction.